Governor Pledges State Aid in War on Gambling

Officials Who Permit It, Are Hit at Confab

Governor, Others In Closed Talks

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 4—(AP)—Governor Stevenson and Attorney General Ivan Elliott pledged their aid today in campaigns against gambling.

'If local officials will not enforce the law," they said, "we stand ready to help to the extent of the state's powers and resources."

The two officials announced their stand in a brief statement issued after they reviewed the gambling situation in Illinois at an executive mansion conference last night.

"We propose," their statement said, "to take further steps to secure action by local officials in counties where we have or obtain evidence of open gambling.

"Open gambling exists only when and where the citizens tolerate officials who permit it."

There was no amplification on what specific action the state might take or whether state police might be used to help in gambling crackdowns.

Donald J. Walsh, state director of public safety who has supervision over the state police force, attended the closed meeting with Stevenson and Elliott.

The conference was called after a complaint from State's Attorney Arthur D. Young of Fulton county that busness there was being harmed by gambling in adjoining Mason and Tazewell counties. Young asked the state for help.

Stevenson told reporters Wednesday that he would discuss the "whole situation" on gambling in Illinois at last night's conference and not limit the talk to any certain counties.

Republicans Here Get Behind Earle Searcy

Large Crowd At Meeting Here Friday

GOP Enthusiastic Over '50 Election

By BRYN GRIFFITHS
(Telegraph City Editor)

While a group of local Democrats was at Savanna Thursday making goo-goo eyes at Harry S. Truman, a crowd of Lee county Republicans was in Dixon making hay. Political hay, that is.

The political hay-making bee was concocted by Henry C. Warner, chairman of the Republican County Central committee. It was quite a shindig, in the form of a dinner at the Elks club for the Hon. Earle Benjamin Searcy, clerk of the Illinois Supreme court, who is a candidate to succeed himself in that office.

A Fine Success

To say that the little "kick off" dinner for Mr. Searcy was a success would be a gross understatement. It was a howling success. More than 175 Republicans from every nook and corner of Lee county came for the meeting. And there were Republicans from other counties too. For example, Congressman Leo Allen of Galena; Circuit Judge Leon Zick, Oregon, and Circuit Judge A. J. Scheineman, Sterling. Representatives from the state legislature in this area were also in attendance. Sen. Dennis J. Collins from DeKalb was there, as was Rep. George Brydia, Prophetstown.

It shouldn't be necessary to record it here, but just so he'll know he isn't being forgotten we'll mention that Rep. Charles K. Willett was there right up in front where he belonged.

Tribute to Warner

The entire affair was run off in true Henry C. Warner fashion—not a false note in the proceedings. It was a tribute to Mr. Warner whether he knows it or not. With the exception of Republican precinct committeemen who were ill, they were all there—the nucleus of a real county organization.

William H. Stuart, Chicago newspaperman, also a guest at the

Ching, Mine Chief In Huddle on Crisis

Washington, Nov. 4—(AP)—Cyrus S. Ching today arranged a meeting with John L. Lewis—the first step in new government efforts to end the coal strike.

Word of plans for a meeting this afternoon was learned by reliable sources shortly after Lewis made a new bid to effect a settlement with a part of the soft coal industry. Lewis offered to negotiate in Chicago tomorrow for an agreement covering mines in the two states of Illinois and Indiana.

Ching, the federal mediation chief, arranged to visit Lewis at the Mine Workers headquarters here at an unspecified hour in the afternoon.

This afternoon's conference, authoritative sources indicated, may pave the way to a joint meeting between Lewis and soft coal operators

Northwestern In Proposal To Workers

Representatives of the Northwestern Steel and Wire Company, Sterling, and the United Steel Workers of America ,Local 63, continued their negotiating conferences at 10:30 this morning.

In a letter to Harry T. Viren, staff representative for C.I.O. and chairman of the negotiating committee, the company made the following proposals:

'Northwestern Steel and Wire company agrees to follow the social insurance and pension program agreed upon by and between Mr. Philip Murray for United Steel Workers of America and the Bethlehem Steel company dated October 31, 1949.

In consideration hereof USW, local 63, agrees to proceed forthwith to secure ratification of this agreement by its membership and further agrees that immediate upon ratification the strike at Northwestern shall forewith be ordered ended."

"The parties hereby agree that in the event this agreement is not ratified by the membership the agreement as proposed is withdrawn, and null and void."

The company's proposal provided that Viren notify the company immediately of any decision made by the union.

Viren and the negotiating committee accepted the proposed agreement subject to one additional conference, which shall be attended by representatives of both the company and the union, and Walter Burke, director. USW.

The conference will be Saturday, Nov. 5, the negotiating is arranging to take the agreement to the membership of local 63. An agreement was also reached providing that necessary maintenance and repair begin immediately after the union ratifies the company's proposal.

ODDITIES IN TODAY'S NEWS

TIME FOR PRACTICE

London, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Listeners on the BBC were treated last night to a sonata in D minor for piano, cello—and alarm clock.

The clock sounded over the air for 25 seconds.

Then an announcer dashed forward, whipped open the purse of pianist Josephine Lee, snatched out the clock and turned it off.

Miss Lee carries it around to time her practice sessions.

NOT ODD; JUST IRONICAL

Sundeland, England, Nov. 4--(AP)--Sixty-year-old Frederick Ramsay loved the sea.

He had sailed all over the world. He spent most of the first world war on ships and had a number of lucky escapes. Retiring from seafaring, he took a job as a dock gate foreman just to be near the water. He trained himself to be a powerful swimmer and rescued two men from the River Tyne.

Yesterday Ramsay collapsed in his bath tub and drowned in a few inches of water.

NO DARKNESS HERE

Philadelphia, Nov. 4—(AP)—When the lights went out suddenly last night during a school "open house" program, the children kept right on singing, weaving baskets and reading aloud.

The youngsters didn't learn, in fact, until after the 800 guests had left that because of a blown fuse they had performed in darkness.

The children were students at the Overbrook School for the Blind.

SOFT DRINKS RUGGED

Toronto, Ont., Nov. 4—(AP)—The hard drinker of hard drinks whose liver is all shot has a companion in misery, Toronto scientists reported today. He is the hard drinker of soft drinks.

Experiments on white rats and dogs have demonstrated that cirrhosis of the liver is just as easily contracted by too much soft drinks as by too much whisky, scientists said.

They cited the case of a victim of cirrhosis who drank a dozen bottles of soft drinks daily and did not eat properly. He never touched hard liquor.

AN HONEST POLITICIAN

East Alton, Ill., Nov. 4—(AP)—This town claims a politician who has kept his campaign promise.

When Mayor Otto F. Brazier ran for election last spring he said he wouldn't permit the fixing of parking tickets.

Early this week his wife was chairman of a style show and eight of her friends were given tickets for parking in a forbidden zone near the fire station.

The $1 fines were paid—by the mayor himself. Two of the women repaid him.

The complaint was signed by Chief Deputy Sheriff Charles Redebaugh.

Graff Named To Important Research Job

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 4—(AP)—Dr. Richard J. Graff, head of the Peoria State Hospital the last three years, has been named superintendent of the new Galesburg State Research Hospital.

The appointment was announced by Director Fred K. Hoehler of the state welfare department. Hoehler said the hospital will "not be an old folks' home" but will be primarily a center for study of problems of mentally ill old persons.

About 2,000 patients can be accomodated. Hoehler said these will include 1,500 in the old age group suffering from mental illness associated with senility but who have some chance of returning to useful living.

Another group will be 50 young men and women, many of them teen age psychotic cases. A third group will be 250 alcoholics.

The first group of patients are expected at the Galesburg institution next March.

Dr. Graff has many friends in Dixon, having been a member of the staff at the Dixon state hospital for several years. He was transferred to the Lincoln state school and colony and later became superintendent of the Peoria state hospital, where he has served for the last three years. His host of Dixon friends extend congratulations on his new appointment to the Galesburg institution.

Sterling W. Schrock Passes Bar Exam

The State Board of Law Examiners notified Sterling W. Schrock today that he passed the bar examination.

He took his undergraduate work at the University of Illinois.

U. S. Tightens Controls on 'War Potential' Goods; Ban Extended To China, and Latin America

Washington, Nov. 4—(AP)—The government slapped rigid controls on shipment of strategic goods to practically the whole world today to prevent re-shipments to the Soviet bloc.

Communist China and Latin America particularly were covered by the new rules.

Officials told a reporter the step was taken more with the idea of averting future re-shipment difficulties than because of any great current traffic in re-shipments to Russian-dominated areas.

Extends Control

Hitherto the department has applied these rigid controls only to Europe and adjacent areas, mostly along the southern rim of the Mediterranean.

The new action extends the control powers to exports to any place in the world except Canada, which has always been in a relatively control-free class of its own, even in wartime.

By strategic goods, the department means for the most part industrial items that might contribute to "war potential" of the Soviet.

Export of military materials is rigidly controlled too but licenses

West Brooklyn Cow Completes Registry Tests by University

A registered Guernsey cow, Willowbrook's Tena, owned by George J. Montavon, of West Brooklyn, has completed an official advanced registry record of 9,049 pounds of milk and 458 pounds of butterfat milked twice daily for a ten month period starting her record as a junior four year old.

Tena is the daughter of the registered Guernsey sire, Kenfleur's King Harlow that has four daughters in performance register of the American Guernsey Cattle club. This record is supervised by the University of Illinois and reported to the American Guernsey Cattle club for approval and publication.

Council Votes To Rent Some Fill Equipment

Mayor J. Fred Hofmann called a special session of the city council at 9 a.m. today and commissioners voted "to rent the necessary equipment to take care of the landfill" in the West end garbage dump.

According to the mayor:

"The necessity for renting is due to the fact that the appropriation for garbage and refuse disposal is practically exhausted.

"There will be no funds for the outright purchase of equipment until the next fiscal year—April, 1950."

The council voted to rent the equipment from Kennedy and Cochran company, Rockford.

Presumably, the major renting expense will be an endloader.

According to tentative terms, the city will have the option of either buying the equipment or extending the rental arrangements at the end of six months.

Any money applied to the original rental will count as part of the purchase price of the equipment—if the council decides it can afford to buy the machinery outright at the end of six months.

Confession Admitted As Evidence Here in Trial for Car Theft

A signed confession was admitted in evidence today against Michael Griffin, 17, one of four Chicago boys charged with stealing a car.

The car was stolen Aug. 15 from Charles July, Amboy. In his statement, Griffin said he and his three friends took the car so they could get back to Chicago.

He also admitted that the quartet stole a Chicago car, drove to Dixon, and abandoned it here when the battery ran down.

Jurors are Ralph Ewald, Ed Mahan, Ruth Reuter, Myrtle Bishop, Herbert Schumacker, Siebern Sieberns, James McMillian, Bernard Bushman, Charles Vaupel, John A. Reitz, John Cahill, and Helen Jane Coleman.

Tavern Owner Drops Television Set Suit

A Sublette tavern owner dropped his charge of fraud against a Chicago television salesman.

Rootle Mini dismissed a complaint against Joseph Lazare, whom he had charged with taking $100 and never delivering a promised television set.

Both the complaint and the dismissal were filed in Judge Grover W. Gehant's County court.

'Seeing Eye' Fund Boosted To $159 by Our Good People

Spearheaded by a $100 contribution from Dixon's Wa-Tan-Ye, the financial flying wedge aimed at replacing Dr. Louise Weber's seeing eye dog—Annie—reached $159 today.

Sponsored by Wan-Tan-Ye, the drive to right a wrong committed by a local citizen—a dog-killer—got off to a rapid start.

Wa-Tan-Ye spontaneously took the responsibiliity for replacing Annie when the intelligent dog succumbed Sunday to poison administered Sept. 8.

Those who contacted Wa-Tan-Ye personally and left donations were:

Neighbor, $1; Young Women's Missionary Society of Immanuel church, $25; G. S. Parks, $1; Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary, $10; Mrs. Stella Robinson, $5; Harry J. Fischer, $2; Mrs. Clara Shawger, $5, and Harry Beard, $10.

Those wishing to contribute to a new pair of eyes for Dr. Weber may do so by contacting the officers of Wa-Tan-Ye. They are Dorothy C. Otis, president; Ethel Buchner, vice-president, and Olive Reed, secretary.

All are employed by the Dixon Evening Telegraph and can be reached at the office any time during the day.

Hey, Vets! Check Digits on Your Service Number NOW!

Washington, Nov. 4—(AP)—The order of payment of the $2,800,000,000 special insurance dividend to World War II veterans will be based generally on the last three digits of a veteran's service serial number.

The Veterans Administration explained today for the first time the system under which checks will be mailed to veterans holding National Life Insurance policies. Payments are to begin in January.

Under the procedure, VA said, a veteran whose serial number ends in 000—35,496,000 for example—will be included in the first mailing of checks.

On the other hand, a veteran with a serial number such as 100,990 will be among the last to receive his check.

The VA said this method of payment was decided upon after careful consideration, and described it as the most un-discriminatory that could be devised.

The full serial number has nothing to do with the order of payment—merely that last three digits. Likewise, the number on the card which VA sent to applicants acknowledging claims has nothing to do with it.

Eugene O'Neil's Writing Days Are Ended, Wife Says

Marblehead, Mass., Nov. 4—(AP)—A nervous disorder apparently has closed the writing career of Eugene O'Neil, Nobel prize-winning dramatist and author of several Broadway hits.

His wife, Carlotta, said last night that he is suffering from Parkinson's disease and that it is "getting progressively worse."

She said his hands tremble so badly he is unable to write in longhand—his customary form of composing—and efforts to dictate have not been too successful.

The disease also has affected the 61-year-old playwright's speech, his wife said, and he prefers to stay in seclusion on his seaside estate here. He bought the place about a year ago.

His last play, "The Ice Man Cometh," was produced on Broadway in 1946.

Holder of the Nobel prize in literature and three Pulitzer prizes, O'Neil also has authored "Emperor Jones," "Strange Interlude," "Anna Christie," "Mourning Becomes Electra," and "The Hairy Ape."

Their solos, duets, and trios will be a part of the evening's entertainment, along with the presentation of the gospel of Christ. The public is invited to attend any or all of these meetings.

Chicago Cops Don't Pay Any Attention To John L. Lewis

Chicago — (AP) — Detective work, like mining, requires a bit of digging Take the case of the shadowy figure reported in Fred Banasch's drug store on a dark fall night. Police searched the building and found nobody. Then Officers Arthur Sweeney and Stephen Palmer took a look at the coal bin. They saw a shoe, began to dig and soon had uncovered one prowler.

In spite of efforts to draft an international schedule, 63 varieties of standard time are in use in the world today.

I was so busy getting ready for winter
I forgot about the car!

Ferdie (in the fur coat) would have saved himself a small bank account if he'd REMEMBERED to bring his car in for winterizing. A few minutes spent in checking tires, lubrication and ignition . . . another minute to charge his battery and fill the radiator with anti-freeze—and he'd hardly know it was cold outside. Don't tread in Ferdie's footsteps. Drive in for winterizing today!

Truman Plans to Stump the Nation in 1950 Fight, Hint

Aboard Train Enroute to Washington, Nov. 4—(AP)—President Truman's determination to stump the country again next year to elect "fair dealers" to congress was strengthened by his reception in Minnesota.

White House aides said he was elated by his welcome yesterday at Minneapolis and St Paul where police estimated 400,000 persons lined the sidewalks to cheer him along a 20 mile parade route.

An applauding crowd the police estimated at 12,000 whooped it up again last night in St Paul's civic auditorium when he gave a foretaste of the 1950 campaign with a slashing attack on "the propaganda of the reactionaries."

The president is convinced that he can help elect liberals to congress by conducting the sort of campaign he made in 1948 through back platform appearances in key states, one close adviser told reporters

Mr. Truman stressed two predictions in his talk last night that the 81st congress will enact a "good deal more" of his "fair deal" before quitting its next session and that there will be a heavier vote in 1950 elections for those with his views.

He called his civil rights federal aid to education, national health insurance and other "general welfare" proposals the path to future growth

He said the people were behind him.

Not Too Worried

"I am not too much worried by those who oppose those policies," Mr. Truman declared 'Between the reactionaries of the extreme left with their talk about revolution and class warfare and the reactionaries of the extreme right with their hysterical cries of bankruptcy and despair, lies the way of progress

"Between those two extremes, the main stream of American life rolls steadily onward toward a better world"

Mr. Truman spoke on the anniversary of the day last November when he received word of his victory over Thomas E Dewey in the bitter 1948 campaign It was "Truman Day" in Minnesota's centennial observance

Republican Gov Luther Youngdahl was one of his hosts The president called it a "bi-partisan" visit but laugned every time he did so

And he described last night's talk in advance as one of "bipartisan nature which will be entirely satisfactory to the Democrats in Minnesota" He even kidded about hoping to make a Democrat out of Youngdahl.

Due Back Tonight

The president's train the one in which he campaigned last year, is due back in Washington tonight

In last night's speech, the president said his administration holds that 'all Americans are entitled to equal rights and equal opportunities under law, and to equal participation in our national life, free from fear and discrimination"

Its policies, he continued, spell progress for all our people '

"These policies mean more personal freedom for all Americans not less They are our staunch shield against communism and against every form of totalitarianism. They are the means by which we will achieve the better world we seek"

Bricks Fly in Harlem as Negroes Hail Red Release

New York, Nov. 4—(AP)—Eleven top American Communists went free on bond last night. Less than three hours later a brick-hurling Harlem mob felled six police in a wild welcome-home for one of the Red leaders.

The Communist bigwigs signed bail bonds totalling $260,000 and walked out to a freedom that may last a year until the U. S. supreme court reviews their recent conviction on charges of conspiring to advocate violent overthrow of the government.

Defendant Benjamin J. Davis, Jr., negro city councilman, met a roaring welcome when he made a street-corner speech in Harlem a short time later. With him were defendants Henry Winston, also a negro, and Robert Thompson.

Robeson There, Too

Nego Singer Paul Robeson, leftist target of two recent Peekskill, N. Y, riots, also spoke.

A crowd of about 2,000 cheered the speakers and then began a torchlight parade up Lenox avenue through the tense, crowded heart of New York's big negro district.

A handful of police stood by.

Officers later said the marchers endangered bystanders by waving their flickering torches

Three police cars swung across Lenox avenue at 114th street The paraders broke the thin police line and milled around the cars, chanting in tune with a sound truck "we will not be moved '

From rooftops came a barrage of bottles, bricks, saucers, cups and broomsticks.

Over the sound truck loudspeakers, a voice roared:

"We are not going to be stopped by the police department of New York City. We will march."

Then It Started

Missiles shattered windows in the area The paraders tried vainly to overturn a police car. Its windshield was smashed

Police reserves, led by some of the department's top officials poured into the area—on edge for weeks over a bitter local election campaign in which Communism is a dominant issue.

Six persons—four of them negroes—were arrested. One negro was charged with assaulting a policeman. The other men were accused of disorderly conduct.

The injured police, none hurt seriously, were taken to hospitals after they were hit by bricks or other objects.

The parade finally broke up as some of the crowd followed Davis off to other meetings. The negro councilman, with strong Communist support, is running for reelection next Tuesday on the American Labor party ticket. He said Harlemites were "celebrating and rejoicing the liberation of their rights."

A police department official, declining to be quoted by name, said the officers had no objection to a Harlem celebration for Davis. But he charged that hoodlums moved in and provoked the disturbance.

He called 98 per cent of Harlem's resident "good and law-abiding." The remaining two per cent, he said, are hoodlums "who, whenever possible, deliberately provoke trouble with uniformed police."

First U. S. Cotton Mill to Hum Again

Pawtucket, R. I. — (AP) — The first successful cotton mill in America soon will hum again, this time as an historic exhibit. Established in 1793 by English-born Samuel Slater, who employed locally hewn lumber, the mill now is being reconditioned by the Old Slater Mill association.

The association plans to re-equip the sturdy structure with ancient machinery and set it in motion early next year.

The machine most desired, however, is in the Smithsonian Institution—Samuel Slater's first machine of its kind made in America. Slater brought its intricate "plans" to this country "in his head." Its mechanism was a carefully guarded secret in England.

Loans by RFC Stir a Controversy

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation is probably the businessman's best friend in Washington. And right now it's showing more generosity toward him than at any time since it was set up.

RFC business loans outstanding are at an all-time high of $416.000,000. About 5400 firms owe the agency money, and new applications come in at the rate of some 1200 a month.

But totals like these don't tell the story. It's better told by examples:

A watch company in Massachusetts was forced to close because of financial difficulties. Plagued by unemployment, the city, where the plant is located appealed to the RFC. A $6,000.000 loan put the business back in working condition.

An airline needed new planes but couldn't get the money from private lenders. It borrowed $12,000,000 from the RFC.

More recently Henry Kaiser turned to the government for funds for his automobile concern, Kaiser-Frazer Corp. First he got $34,400,000 on a 10-year loan to help him develop a new low-priced car, and then he was granted another $10,000,000 to finance a strengthening of his dealer organization.

Back in the depression thirties, when RFC was born, the Pennsylvania railroad borrowed more than $50,000,000 to pay the cost of electrifying its New York-Washington lines.

One of the most spectacular loans in RFC history is the $37.000,000 thus far doled out to Lustron Corp., maker of prefabricated steel houses. Launched with government blessing in the hope it would make a big dent in the housing shortage, Lustron has needed repeated financial help. It still is not on its feet.

The RFC is a sort of bank of last resort. Before the agency will give favorable consideration to a loan application, it insists that a business outfit explore completely all possible private sources of funds.

If the RFC does decide to make a loan. its terms usually are more liberal than a private bank's. It often approves long-term grants, which regular bankers dislike. It demands security, however, and may foreclose like any other lender if a loan goes bad.

The RFC's chief job seems to be encouraging businessmen with new ideas and bailing out established firms which are in financial straits.

It now has about $800,000,000 left for additional loans and there is some chance it may have to look to congress for further loan authority if the present lending pace keeps up. Should that need arise, all will not be smooth sailing.

Voices in and out of congress are certain to protest. Bankers are reluctant to see further expansion of federal loan activity. Some congressmen feel the RFC puts out too much money to shore up businesses that are basically weak and ought to be allowed to fold.

But big and little businessmen are not likely to stand idly by and watch severe limits placed on the lending power of the government unit that for nearly 20 years has been their last desperate hope of assistance.

Begin Lobar Pneumonia Cure Early for Results

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Written for NEA Service

Lobar pneumonia—which is the most common of the pneumonias—is caused by a germ called the pneumococcus. The disease is more likely to develop when the body has become weakened by disease, poor nutrition, or old age. Germs can be breached in large quantities from someone else who is harboring them.

A typical case of lobar pneumonia starts suddenly with a severe chill which may last for as long as half an hour. Soon after the chill, the temperature begins to go up and it rises rapidly to around 104 or 105 degrees. At the same time a person coming down with pneumonia may have general aches and pains with headache. Pain in the chest or side like that which is present in pleurisy, is also common. Cough which produces pain and does not bring up much mucus starts early. The reathing becomes rapid and each breath is shallow.

TYPICAL SIGNS DEVELOP

Unless steps have been taken to treat the condition promptly, the typical signs develop by the second or third day. By this time cold sores around the lips are likely to be present, the facial expression shows anxiety, the pain in the side or chest is severe and the breathing is rapid. Cough brings up a fair amount of sputum which is likely to be tinged with blood. The temperature stays high, at 104 or 105.

Now there is only one chance in 20 or 25 of dying from the disease instead of one chance in three. Lobar pneumonia has dropped from being one of the most important causes of death to being one of the least important of the major diseases. Of course, diagnosis must be made early and treatment started promptly, because the results of treatment are never so good in the person who has been ill for several days.

Hollywood — (NEA) — Ginger Rogers surprised a lot of people, including herself, I think, when she accepted that role in "Storm Center" which Lauren Bacall turned down. It wasn't so long ago that Ginger wouldn't even consider a script that wasn't tailor-written for her. A script rejected by another star would have been out of the question.

Lauren is still issuing statements, hoping to get Warner Brothers mad enough to tear up her contract.

Voice of the People

The views expressed in this column are those of our readers and do not necessarily represent those of the editor.

Mr. Bryn Griffiths
City Editor, Dixon Evening Telegraph
Dixon, Illinois

Dear Mr. Griffiths:

Mayor J. Fred Hofmann's statement in the Dixon Evening Telegraph last evening that the city might have to curtail garbage collections just about put the topper on this business of raising such a fuss about the garbage problem. I realize that I am just a woman and probably shouldn't even open my mouth, according to some people, about something I know nothing about (other than what I read) but it seems to me that the so-called "city fathers" are acting rather asinine about something that has always confronted them. We don't have enough money to keep on collecting garbage and trash as in the past yet we have enough mony to run not one but two special elections to test the proposition of buying an incinerator which, to my way of thinking, was soundly beaten by a very positive percentage the first time by the taxpayers. After all, it is the taxpayer out of whose pocket the money would come. If they don't have enough money for the collections, why don't they charge each family or dwelling (whichever it may be necessary to do) a nominal fee each month for just such things. This way, maybe, some of the people who are not property owners would be sharing a small part of the tax burden that you keep slapping against the property owners.

Had To Buy A Home

My husband is a World War II veteran and gave four years out of his life that this country should be a better place to live in. He did what was asked of him and didn't do any more than the usual amount of grumbling, however, since he has been home we've had to buy a home in order to find a place to live. For one thing, we have a child and besides the fact that places to rent are very scarce, when you mention you have a child also, that really puts the clampers on not being able to find a place to rent. We're not kicking about that too much because if we hadn't bought at this time, maybe we might never have. However, the thing that burns me up is that each year, our real estate taxes, plus all other taxes, keep going higher and higher—in the three years that we have had our home, our taxes have more than doubled. I realize, though, that we are fortunate enough to be able to stand the increase in a lot better shape than a lot of families in the town.

Therefore, Mayor Hofmann's statement that the money was all gone from taxation for garbage disposal rather burned me up due to the fact that most all of the property owners in this town and county are just about to the saturation point as far as taxation is concerned. I know that we, personally, cannot stand any more, either state, federal or local, and I don't doubt but that there are many more like us. By the way just where does our money go from year to year that we pay out? I don't mean a lot of percentages thrown at us that I would grant that 90% of the people don't understand but cold statements in dollars and cents as to what is appropriated for what and how it is spent.

Their Fair (?) City

We don't mind paying taxes, after all, we have to pay taxes to live (so they tell us) but it does gripe a little when our taxes keep going higher and higher and the services that we get from our fair (?) city go lower and lower.

Very truly yours.
"A WOMAN TAXPAYER"

THE ROBERT FOX JURY
Dixon Evening Telegraph
Dixon, Illinois

To the Editor:

After reading in the Dixon Evening Telegraph issue of Wednesday November 2, 1949 the news account concerning one Robert Fox who was "convicted" for drunken driving by a jury of twelve citizens, and the minimum penalty of $100 fine assessed (a mere slap on the wrist) also the loss of his driving license for a year, this writer is wondering how many more innocent victims will be slaughtered by this irresponsible person when he is allowed to "drive again". Neither the fine or loss of license for a year, or for the duration of his natural life ever will bring back the lives of the three people who were killed while this car with death at wheel was weaving down the highway. However, may I ask a pertinant question of the twelve honorable citizens who served on the jury—WHAT WAS YOUR REASON FOR IGNORING THE REQUEST OF THE STATES ATTORNEY, Mr. Pires FOR THE MAXIMUM PENALTY OF $1,000.00 fine and a year in jail, to serve the ends of justice, not simply revenge or retribution? ? What were your motives? Suppose it had been three of your relatives whose lives were snuffed out in a moment would you think it served the ends of justice to allow a drunken, irresponsible person like Robert Fox to get off with such a light sentence, a mere slap on the wrist, I wonder! I do not believe the ends of justice have been served at all by your decision—and I refer to these jurors, whosoever they be, and remember this, there is a God of justice before whom all shall stand some day to give an account for there deeds on this earth. The rotten liquor traffic is taking its fearful toll of slaughter on our highways every day, and its about time the brakes are put on these drunks who are unfit to sit behind the wheel of a car. Robert Fox can be thankful this writer was not on the jury in his case or they might still be out of "the box".

I agree 100% with the States attorney, Mr. Pires that the ends of justice would have been served better, far as this life is concerned, if the defendant had been given the maximum sentence, which would have been entirely consistent with the guilt involved. The writer is the father of five children, and I hope and pray none of them are ever injured by a drunken driver. What will Robert Fox say to his Creator when the blood of these three victims is required at his hand—may he ponder this question well if he reads these lines. The Blood of Jesus Christ, God's son cleanses from ALL sin, as far as guilt is concerned before God, God even though the penalty must be paid to society in this life, for crimes committed against mankind. I do not consider that Robert Fox was a victim of 'persecution" as the attorney (Lloyd Scriven) alleges, but—since he had to say something I suppose that was the "best" he could do to arouse sympathy in the jury for leniency!

Q—What are the relative advantages of raw and boiled linseed oil in paints?

A—The raw oil is for out-of-door use, as its oxidation rate is slower, which results in longer life under relatively severe conditions. The oxidation rate of the boiled oil is too rapid for outdoor exposure but it is well suited to interior use. The boiled oil dries faster, and its characteristics approach those of a varnish.

McKENNEY Answers Your CANASTA Questions

Three Handed Canasta Game

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority

Three-handed Canasta is the problem child of the Canasta games. With two strong players and one weak player in the game, the player sitting in front of the weak player is almost certain to win.

The weak player will not remember the cards. He will constantly throw cards that will aid the next player. Therefore it is my suggestion that in three-handed Canasta, at the end of every game you have two of the players change seats.

With two good players and one beginner, the thing to do is to play two against one. In other words, play two-handed Canasta and let the other strong player and the beginner be the opponents, each taking turns in playing a hand. Allow them to consult and in this way you will make a strong player out of the beginner.

Question: Do the four-handed rules apply to three-handed Canasta?

Answer: Yes. Every rule is the same with one exception. In three-handed Canasta you deal 13 cards. You are required to have only one canasta, the same as in four-handed, to go out.

Question: Do you employ different tactics in the play of three-handed Canasta than in two-handed?

Answer: Yes, you do. Remember that it takes only one canasta to go out, and you start with 13 cards. Therefore it is a little easier for a player to form a canasta.

While in two-handed Canasta you can run up tremendous scores, in three-handed (even though you get control of the pack) you will find that one of the other players may not have too much trouble in assembling one canasta and two sets of three cards each. So the tactics to employ are to try for a quick spread to catch your opponents.

Question: When do you freeze the pack in three-handed Canasta?

Answer: Practically never. The only time you would freeze the pack in three-handed Canasta is in case you think that the player on your left is in such a bad position that he is bound to throw a card that will enable your right-hand opponent to pick up the pack. To protect yourself against this, it may be wise to freeze the pack.

Question: I had melded a canasta of six-spots. My opponent discarded a six. When I went to pick it up and play it in my canasta, picking up the rest of the discard pile, he said I could not do this. He claimed the six-spot he had played acted as a stop card. Was he correct?

Answer: No. In either two-three- or for-handed Canasta you have the right to any card your opponents discards, provided you hold the legal cards with which to pick it up. If you have melded a canasta of sixes, and the pack is not frozen, you are within your rights to pick up the six your opponent discarded, play it with your canasta, and put the balance of the discard pack in your hand.

Question: If the above is true, why is it that so many people have gained the idea that a card of a canasta is a stop card?

Answer: That is not hard to explain. Suppose you have melded a canasta of seven natural sixes and you have a natural six in your hand. When you discard this six, it is a perfect stop card against your opponent, as it is the last one out. There is no chance of your opponent having a card to match it in order to pick up the pack with a wild card.

That is why you should never add cards to your completed canasta until you are ready to go out. Use those cards as fairly safe discards. They are almost as good as black treys.

Mr. McKenney is unable to answer individual questions from readers. However, he will include the most frequently asked questions on Canasta in his column.

Westbrook Pegler

He wants us all to give the McCullough's a lift, and we agree with him.

Westbrook Pegler

New York, Nov. 4—Paul Draper, the elfin dancer of the stylish and expensive night clubs, who sued Mrs. John T. McCullough for $100,000 for citing from official records of congress, is the son of Muriel Draper, who is the subject of an interesting biography of nine pages in a recent publication of the house committee on un-American activities. This pamphlet is called "Report on the congress of American women." I recommend it to patrons of night clubs who may be invited to pay money to see Paul Draper cut the pigeon wing, toss his pretty curls and stamp a dainty foot and to neighborhood cultural groups which import such talent for concerts on winter nights.

As I have reported, Mrs. McCullough, a young American wife and mother of normal interests and small means, brought down calamity by just venturing to say that, as a member of a local culture-bund, of Greenwich, Conn., called the Community Concerts Association, she objected to the payment of any of her money to either Draper or his partner, Larry Adler, who plays the mouth-organ. Their political antics and associations have attracted the official notice of that congressional body which is charged with the duty of exposing organized hostility against the United States.

Adler also sued for $100.000 and, as I have previously related, the pair of them were able, under a Connecticut law, to attach the McCulloughs' home and their modest bank account and put them to legal expenses which would have been absolutely overwhelming but for the generosity of patriotic Americans all over who have beeen sending in contributions.

A Simple Matter

In Connecticut, one accused of being a Communist or fellow-traveler or any merely malicious plaintiff has the power to tie up a loyal American's money and property with an attachment on the merest pretext just by filing suit. He doesn't have to get judgment first disproving the charge as he would in most other states. In Connecticut there are a great many Communists and fellow-travelers filtered in from New York.

Although one of Draper's lawyers recently put it that he was not answerable for his mother's politics, he was under her influence much of his life and his own political associations and preferences have been noteworthy.

Muriel Draper is the new president of an organization called the Congress of American Women. The report of the committee on un-American activities states that this is an affiliate of the Women's International Democratic Federation.

"The purpose of these organizations is . . . to serve as a specialized arm of Soviet political warfare and demoblize the United States and democratic nations generally in order to render them helplesss in the face of the Communist drive for world conquest," this report of the committee begins.

Continuing, it says that the committee's purpose here is to deter American women from innocently lending themselves to the purposes of Mrs. Draper's organization.

"Muriel Draper," the biography says, "is the daughter of the distinguished Sanders family, of Haverhill, Mass., who married into the even more socially and artistically prominent Draper family of New York. Her husband, Paul Draper, was a singer well known throughout Europe," and I would interrupt at this point to say that he was the original hero, or butt, of that concentrated criticism which ran: "—— His singing is better than it sounds." But he had money and affectations and he got by. It was better than working.

"Before their divorce, Muriel and Paul lived and entertained brilliantly in London. She sent her son, Paul, Jr., who is also now a well-known fellow-traveler of the Communists, to expensive and fashionable schools in this country. While she damns American capitalism and its works she has been an ardent protagonist of the Soviet Union for nearly two decades. The Communists have succeeded in exploiting for their own shrewdly calculated, conspiratorial purposes her standing in exclusive social circles. It is difficult to understand her furious out-bursts against her own country and her admiration for the Soviet Union with all its poverty, degradation and tyranny.

"She is well kown in artistic circles as a pianist, a lecturer of sorts, a dabbler in poetry.

She Is Embittered

"Mrs. Mabel Dodge Luhan, in one of her books, explained that the defection of Muriel Draper's husband had embittered her, that '— Paul's attention turning to someone else proved the turning point in her destiny. After that she lived for the satisfaction of the ego. The Drapers moved to London. Muriel had a transfigur ation there. She triumphed in London. Muriel had a transfiguration.

"Then, when Muriel Draper had nearly achieved the pinnacle of her consuming desire for importance, fame, even adulation, her husband entered their London residence at teatime to confess that he had lost their last cent on a horse race. From that time her faith in capitalism suffered a heavy decline.

"A bored and disgruntled woman condemned to 'the relative barrenness of life' in the United States, shorn of her position, her importance, and, significantly, her audience, she turned elsewhere for an outlet to the pro-Soviet artistic circles in New York."

She was against the "imperialistic war" of Britain and France until Russia was attacked. Then she sponsored the Artists' Front to Win the War, "another Communist decoy." In December, 1948, she was chief United States delegate to the Women's International Democratic Federation in Budapest and received a "five minute ovation at the conclusion of her fiery blast against the United Staates."

The record presented by the committee on un-American activities is one of the most shocking in the entire shelf of books which has lengthened year by year notwithstanding the opposition of Eleanor Roosevelt and other politicians operating under cover.

Draper recently has been whining that the wide publication of the allegations by Mrs. McCullough has made it difficult to support his wife and children. The inference seems to be that promoters anrd customers have begun to shun him. It would seem to follow also that his mother will experience some denial, for the committee's report quotes one authority to the effect that Paul has been supporting her out of his earnings for his exquisite flouncing.

Friendliness and Warmth Personality in Any Sphere

She makes friends so easily and adds so much friendly warmth to any gathering that other women envy her charm.

But most of them could be just as charming if they borrowed a few of her good points and held onto them until they became part of their own personalities.

She likes to meet new people and shows it in several ways. She is friendly and interested at the first meeting. She remembers the person's name, and goes out of her way to speak first the next time they meet. And she is always quick to introduce a new acquaintance to an old friend.

She talks enough to put other people at ease, but not enough so that she ever monopolizes the conversation. When someone else is doing the talking she listens with a responsiveness that is both satisfying and flattering.

She laughs easily, so that the little incident someone else tells for a laugh never falls flat if she is around.

OTHER WOMEN LIKE HER

Other women are comfortable in her presence. For she doesn't try to outdo them, or put a show-off in her place, or give herself a big buildup.

She doesn't seem to need to always be right. She can say easily and without embarrassment those little phrases that show she isn't striving to make others think she is perfect: "I never thought of that." "I wish you'd tell me how . . ." "I should have known better . . ."

She is as pleasant and agreeable with women as she is with men.

She can make small talk with anybody. It isn't especially scintillating—but it is friendly and interesting and lively.

Those simple-to-achieve traits of personality have won her the reputation for being an exceptionally charming woman. And there's not one of the list that any woman couldn't acquire—if she liked people well enough to bother.

Ashton Man Takes Bride In Elgin, Ill.

The wedding of Glenn Pfoutz, Jr. of Ashton and Miss Iris Shick of Elgin was a double ring ceremony performed by the associate pastor of St. John's Evangelical church in Elgin, Rev. Elmer T. Grotelueschen, recently.

Large mixed bouquets of fall flowers, palms and ferns decorated the altar, lighted by burning tapers in the candelabrum for the wedding. Every other pew was also marked with a candelabrum and single lighted taper, and decorated with ribbon and greens.

J. C. Wohlfeil, organist, played a recital of nuptial music preceding the ceremony and Miss Marion Wholfeil, soloist, sang nuptial selections.

Attending the bridal couple was Miss Joyce Frank, maid of honor, a former classmate, and the bridesmaids, Miss Barbara Zimmerman of Rochelle and Mrs. Albert Sanders, the latter a sister of the bride. Little Cynthia Pfoutz was flower girl. Dale Whitsell served as best man to the bridegroom, while his brother-in-law, Darrell Cross and Merritt Whitsell were ushers.

White Satin Gown

Entering the sanctuary to the "Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin," the bride escorted by her father, was lovely in a white slipper satin dress with fitted bodice and round neckline with draped bertha collar edged in imported lace. The long sleeves tapered to points at the wrist, while the gathered skirt draped into a graceful full length train. The dress was designed and made by the bride's mother. Her fingertip veil was edged in lace and held by a tiara of orange blossoms. To complete the costume she wore the pearl necklace which was the gift of the bridegroom. Her bridal bouquet was of white baby mums and carnations centered with an orchid.

Miss Frank was gowned in a dress of chartreuse taffeta and had a cluster of bronze baby mums in her hair. Her bouquet was of matching flowers. The bridesmaids were dressed alike in fuchsia and deep acqua dresses respectively, wearing similar hair ornaments as the maid of honor. Their bouquets were also of mums and carnations. The flower girl was in a light acqua dress and carried a basket from which she scattered flower petals in the pathway of the bride.

Mrs. Schick wore a navy blue crepe romaine with gray accessories, and a corsage a pink dress of winter plumage with which she wore black accessories, and a corsage of white carnations.

The reception for more than 100 guests was held in the church parlors following the ceremony. A four-tiered wedding cake was served by Mrs. Darrell Cross, sister of the bridegroom. Miss Jean Herrin poured.

Dixon Beautiful

The Dixon Beautiful committee of the Woman's club has been interested in learning where different common garden plants originated and thought you might be pleased to have the information too as you look through your seed catalogues this winter.

CORN - "Maize" is a word that is understood around the world. Its origin is vague but apparently its first real development occured in the Andes country probably in southern Peru.

POTATO - Many wild species of this plant grow in the cool parts of Peru, Bolivia and Ecuador and a group even more closely related to the modern potato is found in the coastal region of mid-southern Chile and the islands around there.

BEANS - There are many varieties of beans and apparently a number of them came from Central America. Lima beans seem to have a close prehistoric ancestor in Guatemala although previous evidence had pointed to Brazil.

TOMATO - Mexicans have cultivated tomatoes since prehistoric times. Apparently they originated in the Peru-Ecuador-Bolivia region of the Andes. People in the United States considered the 'love apples" as poisonous until a little over a hundred years ago and it fell to the European lot to show people in this country that it was good to eat.

SQUASH - The early history of squash seems to come from various parts of Europe and also from the early Indian tribes of this continent.

GREEN PEPPER - This was one of the most successful plants taken back by Columbus to Europe. They were spice conscious and this fiery species from this country had been developed by the southwestern Indians who even today like highly seasoned food. It was more pungent than that from the Caucasus.

SWEET POTATO - This was taken by a Spanish explorer from this country back to Europe and cultivated there. Also records show that it was known in tropical India at a very early date.

KOHLRABI AND BRUSSELLS SPROUTS - They seem to have been unknown until 400 or 500 years ago and are the only ones of our common vegetables which originated in northern Europe.

KALE AND COLLARDS - The cabbage-like plants seem to be native to the eastern Mediterranean countries of Asia Minor.

ASPARAGUS - It is believed native to the eastern Mediterranean lands and Asia Minor. It grew native in swamp lands and was early considered a cure-all for anything from bee sting to heart trouble and toothache.

ARTICHOKE - Before the Christian era a gigantic thistle, cardoon was cultivated for its leaf shoots. These were grown in the dark to make them tender. It was grown all over the western Mediterranean countries.

SALSIFY AND PARSNIP - These have been cultivated for 2,000 years and come from the eastern mediteranean and Asia Minor.

CELERY - This was mentioned in Homer's Odessey in 850 B.C. and seems to have been grown first in the swamp regions of the Mediterranean area. It was used entirely for medicinal purposes for many years—in fact the first record of its being used for food was in France in 1623. Parsley of the same family had much the same history and was used to ward off intoxication.

There will be more about early vegetable and flowers in next weeks Dixon Beautiful story.

Former Dixonites Meet in Washington

Two former Dixonites, Mrs. Gene W. Davis (nee Frances Martin) and Mrs. Lyle L. Kemp (nee Lois Fellows) recently enjoyed a reunion at the Kemp home in Sedro-Woolley, Washington. Mr. and Mrs. Davis stopped over at the Kemp residence enroute from Vancouver, B. C. to their home in Big Basin State Park, California.

Before leaving Dixon Mrs. Davis was a beautician at the Mademoiselle Beauty Salon and Mrs. Kemp was with the Advertising Department of this newspaper. Their recent meeting was the first one in over two years since their departure from Dixon.

C&S Club Plans Chili Supper for Thursday Evening

The C & S club of the Church of the Brethren met last evening at the home of Mrs. W. E. Stern, with Mrs. Arnold Butterbaugh as co-hostess.

Following the opening prayer, the business session was conducted by Mrs. Chester Moats, president. Final arrangements were made for the club's annual chili supper and bazaar which will be held Thursday evening, November 10, from 5:00 to 7:00 o'clock at the church. Tickets may be secured from club members or may be purchased at the door Plans were also made to hold a rummage sale on Saturday, November 19, and it was requested that all donations be brought to the church on the Friday evening previous to the sale.

Mrs. F. G. Eno was introduced as the evening's guest speaker and her message on "Faith" was most interesting and inspirational. Faith was defined as something intangible within us and the four basic phases of this great topic as: Belief in God. Belief in Salvation, Belief in Christianity and Belief in Denominational Faith.

Refreshments were served by the hostess at the close of the evening and Mrs. Russell Metz invited the group to her home for their Christmas party on December 1.

Nude Woman Found Stabbed to Death by UN Chinese Employe

New York, Nov. 4—(AP)—An attractive woman employe of the "Voice of America" and a Chinese clerk from the United Nations were found stabbed to death today in a blood-spattered room in a Broadway hotel.

Assistant Medical Examiner Nathan Ludwig said it was murder and suicide.

The nude body of the woman, 33-year-old, Bulgarian-born Murhane Balkanska Zolyak, was found sprawled on a bed beside the body of Wei Huan Kuo, 28, a clerk in the U. N. documents and sales division.

The woman, said by associates to be married but separated from her huband, had been stabbed nine times in the chest and eight times in the back.

Seen as First Federal Move To End Tieup

next week in Washington.

Is Unsuccessful

The leader of the striking miners had made unsuccessful bids earlier this week for negotiations looking toward a settlement with Indiana operators lone.

In effect, he expanded that to a two-state proposal with a telegram to Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois. His proposal was for negotiations tomorrow afternoon in Chicago.

Lewis said that if Indiana coal operators can not be brought into the session, then a wage agreement perhaps could be negotiated for Illinois' 40,000 miners alone.

His wire was in response to an appeal by Governor Stevenson on Tuesday, addressed both to Lewis and coal operators, for a resumption of mining to relieve widening distress in Illinois.

See Pattern

There have been increasing signs that Lewis would like to achieve a settlement with some one segment of mine operators and use it as a lever for prying an agreement to his liking from the whole industry.

Union men think that pattern is taking shape in the steel strike where CIO President Philip Murray has reached a settlement of the steelworkers' pensions dispute with Bethlehem, the industry's No. 2 producer.

Pressure is growing for government action in the coal situation if the operators and Lewis made no progress toward an agreement.

A highly-placed government official said some government move is likely within the next 24 hours. Some operators said they expected to be called soon to government-sponsored talks.

Would Meet Saturday

Lewis told Stevenson that he was proposing a two-state agreement because "it may be more acceptable to some operators who have overlapping mining interests in both states."

The proposed Chicago meeting, Lewis said, "could be assembled in Chicago tomorrow afternoon" with Governor Stevenson and Gov. Henry F. Schricker of Indiana attending as "moderators and representatives of the public interest."

"The parties could work intensively over the weekend in an effort to accomplish the desired results," the wire added.

B-29 Bomber Crash Costs Lives of Ten

Hamilton, Bermuda, Nov. 4—(AP)—A B-29 superfortress, crippled by engine trouble, crashed into the sea a mile from shore last night. The big plane caught fire after hitting the water and 10 of the 13 airmen aboard were killed.

Four crewmen managed to jump out after the stricken bomber plowed into the waves but one died of burns a few minutes later. The three survivors, rescued by an oil company executive in a rowboat, were taken to the U S base hospital at nearby Kindley field with minor injuries.

Bermudians watching from shore could hear the screams of the others trapped in the blazing ship.

Col. Jack Merrill, Kindley field commander, said the plane had turned back from a weather observation flight when one of its four engines failed. Losing altitude the disabled plane approached Kindley field but was unable to land because another plane was on the runway, Merrill said.

Unable to regain altitude on three motors the ship crashed into the sea.

Witnesses said the plane smacked into the sea with terrific force, skipped over the water like a skimming stone and then settled slowly a mile from Bermuda's north shore. Escaping gasoline caught fire.

dinner, paid a splendid tribute to the precinct committeemen who attended. He characterized them as "the men who hold a party together during the off-years." And he made an impassioned plea that the Republican party give the precinct workers something more than just a "get out and vote" message.

Administration Flayed

Earle Benjamin Searcy, in the main address of the evening took some rough licks at the Democratic administration. He flayed it for its "strange silence that enshrouds our national debt of 255 billions."

"Do the taxpayers of this nation know," asked Searcy, "that this debt is a full faith and credit mortgage against every item of property, real and personal, in the United States? Do they know that every red ink dollar is a step nearer bankruptcy?"

Searcy said that the country is plunging ahead, spending over 40 billions of dollars a year, "with vastly greater expenditures threatened."

He scathingly referred to the giving away of 23 billions in American tax dollars to 54 foreign nations since the World War II.

"France hoards her own gold while she uses ours," said Mr Searcy. "She is torn woth scores of parties, mostly Socialistic, and her strength is so sapped that she is as weak as when Hitler over ran her in 1940. Yet, apparently to bolster Socialism in France, American taxpayers have been required to shell out to her rules nearly five billions of dollars since the war."

The U. S. policy of aiding Socialistic England also came in for a sound slapping by Searcy.

"Socialism rules England, yet our taxpayers have sent her nearly eight billions of dollars. Is this to make sure that Socialism will continue to thrive there?" he asked.

"Unappraised Treason?"

"Is all this tragic stupidity, or the vanguard of a new, and as yet, unappraised treason?" cried Searcy.

"If, as it claims, the administration is against Socialism and Communism, why does it support them throughout the world," he demanded.

In remarks preceding Mr. Searcy's address, William Stuart paid tribute to John Divine, well known Dixon lawyer. He indicated in a jovial way that it was "too bad that John is on the other side of the fence." He won the applause of the gathering by adding that no one in the state "is better" qualified for governor than John Devine."

Mr. Stuart, author of "The Twenty Incredible Years"—a political treatise on the State of Illinois, emphasized to the Republican gathering the necessity of carrying a real Republican message onto the highways and into the byways of the county. His frank, honest appraisal of the importance of the precinct committeemen win him the warm admiration of the nearly 40 precinct men in the audience.

Doran, Sublette Petitions Court For His Release

A Stateville prisoner sentenced in 1946 for petty larceny and a burglary in Sublette filed a petition of habeas corpus in Circuit court today and asked to be released.

Floyd Doran was sentenced to 1-to-5 years for violating his probation in September, 1948. In his petition, he said the 1to-5 sentence was invalid and charged that he already served six months at Vandalia for the same offense.

According to court records, Doran was indicted on two counts of burglary and larceny in March, 1946. Subsequently, the indictment charging Doran with the burglary of Rapp's tavern was reduced to petty larceny. Doran pleaded guilty and was sent to Vandalia for six months.

For the burglary of the service station, Doran was placed on probation for five years. When he was released from Vandalia, he violated his probation by leaving the state and drew the 1-to-5 penalty.

Doran argued in his petition that he was not sentenced for violating probation but for burglary of the tavern. He said the two sentences constituted a violation of the double jeopardy clause of the Constitution.

The Stateville prisoner added that he would not have filed the petition if the parole board had granted his release equest.

U. S. Tightens Controls on War Potentials

for these are handled by the state department.

The commerce department handles export licenses for goods covered by today's new rules.

Screen Shipments

This gives it a chance to "screen" shipments. Thus it can deny shipment privileges where it suspects goods, apparently destined for some non-Russian area, are in fact to be re-shipped to Soviet-dominated regions.

Direct shipments of strategic items to the Soviet Union have been under virtual ban since March, 1948.

In announcing the control extension, the department also streamlined its list of commodities covered by the controls. The aim is to end licensing for goods now considered non-strategic and also "in plentiful domestic supply."

It put approximately 100 classes of commodities under the worldwide license controls while simultaneously dropping 50 other classes of goods from the license requirements formerly applied to Europe. The 50 dropped groups now may be shipped without license "in any quantity and to any destination."

PARISIAN SHOPS IN U. S.—One of France's biggest dressmakers has arrived in the U. S. to buy American fashions, putting a reverse twist on the traditional idea that France dictates fashion to the rest of the world. He is molyneaux, dressmaker to Britain's Princes Margaret. He is en route to California to buy 25 models of "America's best sports, play and resort clothes to take home and copy." Molyneaux said in New York: "I'm looking for typically American play clothes, not influenced by Paris. The U. S. makes the best play clothes in the world." The models Molyneaux will buy will be ready-to-wear items. He will "copy up" these decisions into custom clothes for his well-heeled customers. He admitted this was a new twist to the Americans coming to Paris to "copy down" designs of the Haut Coutre for American budget buyers. Here are two California fashions typical of those Molyneaux will examine. Insert, Molyneaux.

The Power that made Buick Famous

IF you want to know what's "the newest thing" in automobile engines, look at the Buick engine pictured here, and you'll see the words "valve-in-head."

But it happens that this isn't new with Buick. As a matter of fact, the valve-in-head engine was invented back in 1902—U. S. Patent No. 771095—and immediately, Buick adopted the principle, which became the first in a long string of "Buick firsts."

Not everyone went for the idea—then. In spite of the fact that this engine "breathes" more freely—gets fuel in and exhaust gases out more easily—others hung onto their pet ideas.

Then came the airplane, with its need for maximum power from every drop of fuel—and every maker of internal combustion airplane engines adopted the valve-in-head principle.

And more recently—with the hope that higher-octane fuels will become available for motor cars—a lot of automotive engine designers are taking a new look at the valve-in-head idea.

But just for the record, we'd like to point out that Buick got there first.

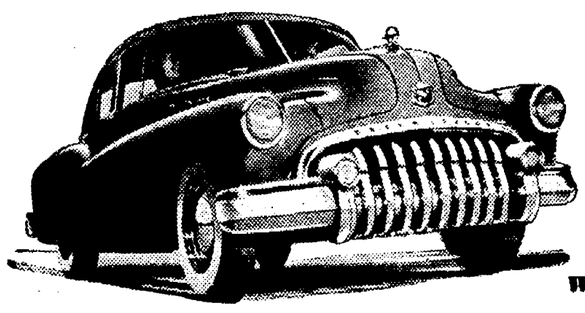

And ever since, Buick has gone steadily ahead, building up a name as "valve-in-headquarters." Buick engineers reshaped pistons to put Fireball wallop in these engines. They stepped up compression ratios as fast as better fuels came along.

So perhaps you'll want to remember, when you hear the term "valve-in-head," that this is the type of power that made Buick famous.

If others want to climb on the bandwagon, we say "more power to them"—and no pun is intended.

But Buick has been doing more with valve-in-head right from the start.

And—we might add—it stands to reason that Buick is not through making this type of engine better and better.

MORE CLEARLY THAN EVER

FRED LEAKE'S POND, southeast of Amboy has been the resting and feeding ground for about 5,000 migratory water fowl for a period of about three weeks, but the majority of this vast flock of wild birds was due to seek more distant climes with the official opening of the hunting season in the Northern Illinois zone. Even the oldest residents of that locality declare that this year's migration is the heaviest of many years in that section.

* * * *

STATE CONSERVATION department officers, who have been patrolling the area estimated that about 2,000 geese of the Canadian honker, blue and white varieties and about an equal number of varied species of ducks have been using the waters of the Leake ponds for resting grounds and the corn field surrounding as feeding grounds. The corn fields were picked with mechanical pickers leaving considerable corn on the ground. Each afternoon about 3:30, the geese start the long procession from the water to the field to return about dusk. The ducks follow about a half hour later.

THE EAST END SPORTSMEN'S club of Compton, one of the most active of the local groups (and one of the largest with 341 members) is conducting a trap shoot Sunday just north of Compton on Rt. 51. It will be an all-day shoot with hams, bacon, turkeys and other merchandise as prizes.

WE HAVE A NOTE FROM Neil Stiver, Jr., of Walnut stating his independent basketball team is seeking games, home or away.

THE DUKE VARSITY SENIORS romped through a light workout last night and then concluded the drill with their final smack at the tackling dummy.

It was sort of a touching traditional ceremony conducted in the gloom of the stadium field. The frosh-sophs gathered around as the 20 seniors celebrated the end of their prep rehearsals. The cheers rang lustily as each senior lined up for his final run. The dummy virtually torn asunder as the cheers went up. Then each dashed misty-eyed toward the showers.

ALL THAT REMAINS of the 1949 season is, of course, the final game against Geneseo tonight, the naming of the lettermen, and the election of a captain, or co-captains, possibly Monday. The squad was polled last night for the most valuable player. His identity, with those of the other North Central conference "most valuables," will be announced shortly.

HERE ARE THE GRID SELECTIONS FOR SATURDAY: Boston college-Clemson, even; Navy needs 18 to trim Tulane; Ohio State 14 better than Pitt; U. of Virginia 13½ underdog to Pennsylvania; Brown 6½ points better than Yale; Dartmouth 20 points superior to Columbia; Harvard needs 13 points over Princeton; Penn State an eight-point favorite over W. Virginia U.; Missouri 20 points better than Colorado U.; Indiana needs 16 points to whip Illinois.

* * * *

OKLAHOMA IS 35 POINTS better than Kansas State; Minnesota 12½ points better than Iowa; Northwestern 1½ points superior to Wisconsin; Purdue needs 15 to whip Michigan; Rice 14 points better than Rice; Baylor and Texas U. are even; Duke 6½ points better than Wake Forest; Florida requires 10 to beat Georgia; Louiriana State rated 7½ points better than Vanderbilt; Washington State is 29 points inferior to California; S. M. U. 19 points better than Texas A. and M.; Stanford 7½ points underdog to Southern Cal.; Oregon is 8 points superior to Washington U.

THE PROS—Green Bay-Bears, about even; Pittsburgh spotted 6 over Washington; Rams rated 6½ points below the Eagles; Giants are 13½ points favorites over the Bulldogs; and the Cards six point favorites over the Lions.

Gerry Coleman Voted A.L. Top Rookie

Yanks' Second Baseman Rated Over Sievers

New York, Nov. 4—(AP)—Gerry Coleman, fancy-fielding second baseman of the New York Yankess, was voted today the American league's Rookie of the Year.

The slim 25-year-old resident of San Francisco, who played an important part in the Yankees' terrific fight for the American league pennant and was one of the heroes of their world series triumph over the Dodgers, joined Brooklyn's Don Newcombe of the National league as the frosh standouts of their respective circuits.

Both received the accolade in an Associated Press poll of 116 members of the Baseball Writers' Association throughout the major league cities.

Whereas Newcombe breezed past all opposition by capturing 105 votes, Coleman had strenuous competition from Outfielder Roy Sievers of the St. Louis Browns and Southpaw Pitcher Alex Kellner of the Philadelphia Athletics.

The wiry infielder, who piloted a Marine dive bomber during the war, was named on 40 ballots to 33 for Sievers and 30 for Kellner. In all, six players were given support for the American league's top rookie to seven for the National.

Fourth place in the junior circuit's balloting went to Mike Garcia, Cleveland Indians' righthander. The American-born Mexican drew seven votes to five for Johnny Groth, Detroit outfielder, and one for Gus Zernial, Chicago White Sox flychaser.

The 11 remaining votes in the National were divided as follows: Willie Jones, Phillies, 4; Del Crandall, Braves, 3; and Eddie Kazak, Cards; Pete Castiglione and Tom Saffell, Pirates, and Mike Goliat, Phils, one each.

Coleman's value to the Yankees cannot be measured by cold statistics. He batted only .276, collected only two homers, and drove in only 43 runs. That hardly measured up to Sievers' .306 average, 16 home runs and more than twice as many RBI's. Neither is his record as impressive as Kellner's, who won 20 and lost 12 in his first full season with the A's.

Coleman is the type who can do a lot of things and do them well. He is smart, aggressive, ambitious, an excellent fielder, fast on the bases and hard to fool at the plate. Although he's not a long distance hitter, he sprays his share of doubles and triples. He has also proved a fine clutch hitter for manager Casey Stengel.

Coleman attributes his success to a decision he made last winter. Realizing he didn't have the power to slam the ball out of the park, he decided to shorten his bat. He drilled all winter in the cellar of his home with a four-pound bat to strengthen his wrists and forearms. He practiced push-ups to build up his stature. It paid off.

Army, Notre Dame Face Tests Saturday

NO HARD FEELINGS—Injured in spectator-player melee during hockey game against Blackhawks in Chicago, George Grbich (right) shakes hands with Ken Reardon of Montreal Canadiens to show no hard feelings. Ten stitches were needed in Grbich's scalp, but he refused to sign a complaint, although three other spectators charged Reardon and teammate Leo Gravelle with assault.

The Week's Grid Selections: Notre Dame, Army, Illinois, Texas, S. M. U., and Minnesota

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

New York, Nov. 4—(AP)—Knute Rockne often said that a "football takes crazy bounces."

Every football forecaster will agree with the late coach of Notre Dame, especially this fall with upsets almost the rule. In two weeks this department's average has been dragged down from .811 to .798. The season's record is 343 correct guesses and 87 wrong ones.

Last week there were 58 on the right side of the ledger and 17 on the wrong side for .774.

Here are this week's selections:

Notre Dame over Michigan State: Notre Dame's long winning streak is not likely to end with this one. The Irish should win by two touchdowns from the team Michigan could whip by only 7 to 3.

Army over Fordham: Two of the East's finest passers, Arnold Galiffa of Army and Dick Doheny of Fordham will be on display. Galiffa has the more potent teammates and the Cadets should triumph.

Princeton over Harvard: Kazmaier's passes will be too much for Harvard.

Michigan over Purdue: Minnesota lost to both by the same margin but the indications are that Michigan will win this with relative ease.

Tulane over Navy: Each has tangled with Notre Dame but Tulane has had the longer time to recover.

California over Washington State: Bob Celeri will quarterback the unbeaten Californians to another victory over the of-beaten Cougars.

Texas over Baylor: Baylor is unbeaten, Texas has been spilled three times but the Longhorns are the pick.

Tennessee over Georgia Tech: Bob Neyland has Tennessee back to pre-war strength. That means woe for the opposition as North Carolina discovered last week.

Southern California over Stanford: But the Trojans edge is no greater than the thickness of a well-worn dime.

North Carolina over William and Mary: Seldom does a Snavely-cached team lose three in a row. Charlie (Cho Cho) Justice to pick up steam again.

Minnesota over Iowa: Iowa is co-leader of the Big Ten, but here is where the Hawkeye sophomores take a tumble.

Southern Methodist over Texas A & M: Doak Walker has regained his strength.

East: Brown over Yale, Cornell over Syracuse, Colgate over Holy Cross, Dartmouth over Columbia, Ohio State over Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania over Virginia, Penn State over West Virginia.

Midwest: Illinois over Indiana, Iowa State over Drake, Kansas over Nebraska, Marquette over South Carolina, Missouri over Colorado, Oklahoma A & M over Tulsa, Wichita over St. Louis, Northwestern over Wisconsin, Cincinnati over Ohio University, Delaware over Bradley, Kentucky over Xavier, Miami (Ohio) over Western Reserve, Gustavus-Adolphus over St. Olaf, Wayne over Toledo.

Southwest: Rice over Arkansas, West Texas State over Arizona (Flagstaff) State, Loyola over New Mexico.

South: Auburn over Mississippi State, Duke over Wake Forest, Georgia over Florida, Louisiana State over Vanderbilt, Maryland over George Washington, North Carolina State over Richmond, Washington & Lee over VPI.

Fordham and Spartans Are Top Rung Clubs

New York, Nov. 4—(AP) — Notre Dame and Army, the two topmost gridiron powers, will find their paths to greater glory blocked tomorrow by opponents capable of giving them more than the customary weekend workout.

Notre Dame's clash with Michigan State at East Lansing was tabbed weeks ago as one of the high spots on the Irish schedule and the Spartans have not disappointed their backers.

But the entire gridiron world is somewhat surprised at the showing made by Fordham, which meets Army at West Point. Like Army and Notre Dame, Fordham is unbeaten and untied.

There was a time when Notre Dame and Army reserved the first Saturday in November for their annual wrestle in New York. That series has ended, but the two perennial powers may feel as if they've been banging into each other by the time they're through tomorrow night.

Michigan State has waltzed through Marquette, Maryland, William and Mary, Penn State and Temple since losing its opener to Michigan, 7-3. It holds the No. 10 spot in the Associated Press rankings.

With Notre Dame rated at the top of the list, the East Lansing get-together is the only one of the week involving two of the first ten teams.

Among the remaining members of the select circle, Michigan and Baylor face the greatest apparent danger. Fifth-place Michigan will be invaded by a Purdue team that pulled the upset of the year last week in knocking off Minnesota.

Baylor, ranked sixth and winner of all six of its 1949 starts, visits Texas, a team that has lost three close ones Their Southwest conference clash his one of the few toss-ups on tomorrow's slate.

Oklahoma, the No. 3 team, is a 34-point favorite in its Big Seven conference game at Kansas State. California, all-victorious and rated fourth, is a 28-point choice to down Washington State in their Pacific Coast tilt at Berkley.

Rice and Southern Methodist, rated eighth and ninth respectively meet underdog opponents in the Southwest conference. Arkansas goes to Rice, while SMU performs at Texas A. and M.

NATIONAL DOG TRIAL

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 4—(AP)—The National Quail Futurity, to test the abilities of some of the nation's leading hunting dogs, will be held at Camp Ellis near Lewistown beginning next Sunday. The event will bring pointers and setters from 40 states to Illinois for the four-day field trials.

The record winning share for World Series players was the $6,772.05 pocketed by each Cleveland Indian in 1948.

Justice, North Carolina's Favorite Son, Got an Early Start to Fame on Gridiron

By JIM O'LEARY
NEA Staff Correspondent

Choo Choo Justice

Charlie Justice's countenance—the friendly brown eyes and matching hair—has adorned slick magazines since 1946.

But the five-foot 10-inch, 170 pound Choo Choo Justice was nationally known before he matriculated at Chapel Hill to so quickly become North Carolina's favorite son.

Young Justice, you see, went directly from Asheville's Lee H. Edwards High to the Bainbridge, Md., Naval Training Station, where before his three-year hitch was out he was one of the most sought backs in the nation, professional clubs competing with the colleges.

At 19, and before receiving his high school diploma by mail, Justice married pretty brunette Sarah Hunter. Now a 25-year-old senior, six months away from a college degree, the young man whose name is synonymous with present-day football has a year-old son Ronald, whose play pen is the main fixture in a modest home near the campus. A three-year-old Boxer is the only other Cho Cho in the household.

OFF-SEASON ATTRACTION

Majoring in physical education, Justic is no great shakes as a student, took extra courses during the summer to lighten his schedule this fall.

Home and movies keep the Tar Heels' triple threat captain well rested from Saturday to Saturday throughout the football campaign, but in the off-season he is continually on the run for banquets and personal appearances, although he manages to squeeze in time for tennis and golf. He allows only ice cream to creep into his favorite diet of steaks.

Justice's father, of Scotch-Irish-German extraction and a railway switchman, raised four other sons who were athletes at Rollins College, Winter Park, Fla., and a daughter.

Pa Justice had baseball ambitions for his boys, still believes Charlie is good enough to make the grade.

But as older brother Joe, Rollins director of physical education and football and baseball coach, puts it: "They always manage to have Charlie cut from the baseball squad the first week. They don't want to take the responsibility for injuries."

They're right.

Choo Choo Justice is too good a football player to run the risk of injury doing anything else.

Potts Market looked like they were choosing up partners last night, with Vic and Ken doing a brother act with 444 each Ken increasing his games two pins with 146-148-150 for his total, while Vic did it the hard way with 209 sandwiched in between a 111 and 124, leadoff Bob Whitehead and anchor John Hyland formed the other couple with each having 490, leaving only Joe Venier just three pins off that figure with 487 . . . Bill Mooney's Freeman Shoe five won another game last night, now having a five out of 27 record for the season . . . Al Vorhis, using a bit of strategy laid out of his Market five last night and consequently they won two games to tighten their hold on first although he was on hand with cheers, advice etc., to bolster them up . . . Rogers Printing turned in the high game of the night in their first set with 1086, George Rybick leading the way with 240, and then dropped 222 pins to 849 in their second for the second low game of the evening . . . It's just as well that Bob Cramer quit on three games last night, starting with 237 he lopped off 43 pins in his second for 194 and 44 more for 150 in his last, but even then taking 581 far beyond his fondest hopes

Annual Tularemia Warning Is Issued

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 4—(AP)—The state health director today urged additional care in handling of rabbits to prevent the annual rise in tularemia cases with the opening of the rabbit season Nov. 11.

Dr. Roland R. Cross said that 90 per cent of the 40 cases of tularemia which have occurred in Illinois during the last five years have been contracted through the skinning and dressing of infected wild rabbits. The disease caused 26 deaths in Illinois in the last five years

Prevalence of the disease increases during the months of November through January, when rabbit hunting is allowed, Dr. Cross said.

He urged housewives, hunters and persons who prepare wild rabbits for market to be careful in handling them and to wear rubber gloves while dressing the animals.

Injured Pro Golf Star Recovering

Santa Monica, Calif., Nov. 4—Former U S Open Golf Champion Lloyd Mangrum is recovering from shoulder surgery today.

Dr. Daniel Levinthal says it may be two months before the golfer can start swinging again. A bone chip from Mangrum's upper arm was used to mend his shoulder socket, torn in an altercation Wednesday. He will be in St. John's hospital several days.

The Detroit Red Wings, who led the National Hockey League standings in 1948-49, had 21-6 record at home and 13-13 on the road.

Want Polluters Of Streams to Pay for Damages

Bloomington, Ill., Nov. 4—(AP)—Conservation and sportsmen's groups talked with state officials yesterday about he possibility of strengthening penalties for stream pollution.

They suggested that responsible parties be made to pay for fish and wild life killed by stream pollution.

It was also agreed that funds should be raised to pay experts whose opinion whether fish and wild life had been killed by stream pollution would be recognized by the courts.

Leonard J. Schwartz, state director of conservation, said no definite action was taken at yesterday's meeting. Other participating in the talks were representatives of the Illinois Sanitary Water division, the State Natural History Survey and the Illinois Federation of Sportsmen's clubs.

The CAMEO

By Virginia Teale

Copyright, 1949, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: A rare cameo, worth $10,000 or more, has been offered for sale by Martin Falter, one of Dolorosa's artist residents. Hagar Blair wants it, but can't afford it. Stephanie Smith, who works in Hagar's gift shop, also seems to want it. Arnold Pfeffer, a weaver, who is being blackmailed by Falter to take the cameo to a San Francisco art dealer, is afraid Falter stole it. Nell O'Neill, and her husband, Tom O'Neill, meanwhile have taken Andrey Yakov, a Russian artist, to see Falter, but find him not home.

NELL O'NEILL'S voice commenced a low staccato of words. Tom interrupted her angrily. Andrey Yakov strolled into the next room, closing the door quietly. Martin Falter's bedroom was quite different from the outer one. Most significant was the fastidious order here. The low, wide couch-bed with its heavy linen spread and bolstered pillows, smooth and precise.

A handsome desk clock set in pigskin registered the time, 4:35. Beside the clock was a letter. Yakov picked it up and looked at the San Francisco postmark. In the upper left corner he saw a small engraved crest above the address of a well-known art dealer. Slipping the letter from the envelope, Yakov began to read. Halfway down the page, he gave a surprised grunt—his eyes raced through the remainder of the letter. Hurriedly, he returned the paper to the envelope and placed it where he had found it. His attitude had abruptly changed, his next movements were quick and smooth like those of a hunting cat.

But he was gazing out the window, apparently in idle contemplation, when Nell opened the door.

HE turned to her, smiling, "The delicate colors of the western ocean at sunset, I shall never tire of them."

He turned and continued talking casually: "I look forward to seeing Miss Blair's cameo collection. It may be that we can negotiate an exchange of pieces, perhaps she has something that will ease my disappointment concerning your wonderful cameo."

Nell's eyes focused on his face "You'll see my cameo."

"Aha! You have then remembered where it is?"

"Yes. Yes, I have remembered."

He looked at her intently, folding his lower lip between thumb and forefinger: "Then, perhaps, if it should be the piece I am looking for, you will consent to sell it?"

"Perhaps."

Yakov's eyes narrowed, but he was still smiling as he said: "It would be to your advantage—in many ways."

As they left the bedroom, Yakov looked around for Tom: "Your husband? He is waiting outside?"

Nell's lips tightened: "No. He's down at Bob's, drinking again."

Yakov looked concerned. "A pity."

They had closed Martin's front door and were descending the steps when Nell stopped abruptly. She gripped Yakov's arm and pointed down the hill to the corner on the opposite side of the street.

He saw the figure of Tom O'Neill. Standing opposite him, feet apart, in a careless attitude, was a tall man.

Nell exploded. "He's got hold of Martin. No telling what he'll say to him."

Yakov, noting the creases of worry and annoyance around her large blue eyes, suggested soothingly: "Perhaps he will tell our friend Martin Falter that we are here seeking his company."

Nell, staring intently down the hill, did not answer. As she watched, Martin turned from Tom as though to start up the hill. Tom followed and grabbed Martin's arm, the two men faced each other once more and seemed to be arguing. Martin turned his face toward the top of the hill and lifted a hand in salute. He gave no further sign of recognition, however.

"Do we go in pursuit?" Andrey Yakov asked with a half-smile.

"No!" she answered with suppressed fury. "It would only give Tom a chance to make a big scene. We'll go on to Hagar Blair's."

NELL kept silent as they drove to the Three Wishes Shop. She was reviewing, bitterly, the many other occasions when Tom had made an ugly issue of certain friendships of hers. She cringed inwardly as she recalled the lashings he'd given her with that fiendish tongue of his. Always, during their violent quarrels, he'd bring up her former career, taunting her with his favorite epithet, "stag party prima donna." She'd been serious about her dancing, had tried to be artistic about it. She might have made something of herself, if she hadn't given up her career to marry Tom. At that time, however, marrying rich Tom O'Neill hadn't seemed a bad idea. She needed money desperately at the time they met and had sold him the cameo, weeping pathetically and telling him it was a precious family heirloom. Tom had wept into his champagne and had given her a large sum for the brooch. Then, on their wedding day, he'd made a great ceremony of giving it back.

He told her it had been a lifelong ambition to install a beautiful wife in a cozy studio home and live out his life among sympathetic creative friends. He qualified himself for this group by calling himself a "ceramist."

Once she had hoped to persuade Tom to give up Dolorosa. But right at the crucial moment, one of his miserable clay pots had won a minor prize at the Laguna Beach Festival of Arts. He had conducted a three-day celebration and had vowed to dedicate the rest of his days to "his art." In Dolorosa!

So now the cameo was her only means of escape. Provided it turned out to be the rare piece Yakov was looking for. And, provided she could get it back, somehow, from Martin Falter.

Circuit Judge Recommends Tavern Gambling Indictments

Mound City, Ill., Nov. 4—(AP)—Judge R. B. Utter recommended today from the Pulaski county bench that the state's attorney prepare for a January circuit court grand jury indictments charging nine tavern operators with permitting gambling in their establishments.

Judge Utter made the recommendation during a hearing on the operators' motion to quash formal complaints including the gambling charges. He took the motion under advisement.

State's Attorney Warner Wall did not comment immediately on the court's recommendation. He moved that the court strike the operators' motion to quash the complaints. Judge Utter also took Wall's motion under advisement.

State's Attorney Warner Wall did not comment immediately on the court's recommendation. He moved that the court strike the operators' motion to quash the complaints. Judge Utter also took Wall's motion under advisement.

State Represented

Harry Pate, an assistant Illinois attorney general, attended the hearing as an observer.

The tavern men charged two ministers, who signed the complaints, of "conspiracy with other persons to control all gambling operations in Pulaski county." Wall replied that the operators' charge against the ministers was "funny."

Previously the Rev. Maurice Winn, Mounds, termed the charges "absolutely untrue and ridiculous." It was expected that they would try to besmirch the character of their accusers." He said he also spoke for the Rev. Robert Simpson, Mound City.

Slots In Taverns

The Methodist ministers signed informations which said slot machines had been permitted in the taverns. Winn is chairman of a Pulaski county law observance league, claiming 400 members.

The operators' motion to quash the complaints also accused the ministers of "acting in furtherance of said conspiracy and (they) are being paid by certain gambling interests in this behalf."

The accused operators are Harry Goins, Earl Duncan, A. A. Cervantes, Lester Winchester, Ralph Roberts, Dude Lynn, Jerry Walker, Gordon Johnson and Fred Boren.

State's Population Is Up 7% Since 1940

Washington, Nov. 4—(AP)—The census bureau estimated yesterday that the population of Illinois has increased seven per cent since 1940.

In a list of estimated populations for all the states as of July 1, the Illinois figure was given as 8,449,000, or 552,000 more than shown by the latest official census, taken in April 1940.

Total population of all the states was estimated at 148,720,000. That is 17,051,000 or 12.9 per cent above the 1940 official census.

All states except five were listed as having increased. Those in the less column are North Dakota, Nebraska, Mississippi, Oklahoma and Montana.

When the Supreme Court was moved from the Capitol in 1937 to its own building, each Justice had his individual chair moved with him.

Once a Press Agent, He Now Works for the Lord

By HAL BOYLE

New York—(AP)—The Rev. Everett C. Parker used to be a press agent for Chicago livestock shows.

Now he's an advance agent for the Lord—via radio. He sparkplugs religious publicity over the airlanes.

"This means something," he said, "that's why I'm doing it. The other thing—his former work as a press agent—"only meant money."

At 36 this energetic minister is director of The Protestant Radio commission. This organization of the nation's leading Protestant church groups is spending $172,000 this year for 800 religious radio programs to be heard over some 1,000 stations.

The programs are organized by Rev. Parker and a staff of three. How he decided to embark on this unusual career is quite a story.

He sold doughnuts from door-to-door, worked as a chef in a Chicago cafeteria, then started a publicity firm. Then he became program director of a Hammond, Ind., radio station.

One day the owner asked him to go out and find a commercial sponsor for a Lenten program.

"How can anybody sell a religious program?" Parker demanded.

"Well try it anyway," said the owner.

Parker finally got a utilities company to act as sponsor. With his flair for drama, Parker made the program a popular feature. It lasted 4½ years and he was sponsored by a laundry and a cemetery, as well as by the utilities company.

Makes the Plunge

"I found out the influence a church has on a community, and the things a minister can do that no one else can do," Parker said. "So I decided to make the whole plunge—to go into the ministry myself."

He was graduated from the Chicago Theological Seminary magna cum laude. Awarded a fellowship in religious radio, he spent a year with the NBC network. He was offered a permanent post with NBC but decided his real wish was to devote himself to the ministry.

In the three years since then he has become a leading authority in religious radio, and held workshops at several universities to teach the subject to other ministers.

The Rev. Parker has been a trailblazer in creating religious programs that avoid dull sermonizing but carry a real spiritual impact because they deal with problems close to the hearts of listeners. One of his innovations is a TV puppet show that tells Bible tales for children.

Shows 'Em Solace

"People today are confused and looking for something to tie their loyalties to. If you can show them the solace and personal satisfaction religions brings, you are doing them a favor."

The best writers in radio write the programs for him at a fraction of their usual price. But he insists on paying them, also insists on paying actors on the programs their union minimum.

"We paid Ingrid Bergman $32 for one show," Parker smiled. "On a commercial show she'd probably get $5,000."

No money is paid for station time. Most stations are glad to air the programs as a public service.

You might be interested in how I came upon this story. I got it from two press agents for the Protestant Radio commission. Both are Jewish.

"They do the work free," said the Rev. Parker.

Phillipine Typhoon Left 25,000 Homeless

Manila, Nov. 4—(AP)—The typhoon that struck the south central Philippines on Oct. 31 killed 271 persons, left 25,047 homeless and destroyed 5,977 buildings, the Philippine National Red Cross reported today.

Red Cross officials said the figures likely would mount as complete reports were received from outlying sectors.

Red Tape by the Yard Is U. S. Stumbling Block When It Comes to Foreign Trade

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Nov. 4—(AP)—Secretary of State Acheson this week took a few sharp cracks at the trouble a foreigner runs into when he wants to ship goods into this country.

He made a speech which was a plea for better world trade. And he suggested very positively that the United States has to make some moves to help that trade by letting more goods from other countries come in.

Stumbling Blocks

As an example of the stumbling blocks set up by this country he cited the red tape that's been wound around world trade by the laws and regulations covering goods imported here.

The customs inspectors, in figuring out how much imported goods are worth and how much tariff should be placed on them, try to guide themselves by regulations (they fill a two-inch thick book) the tariff laws, and court decisions.

Said Acheson:

"Under the present laws and procedures, it sometimes takes as long as three or five years before an importer knows exactly what amount of duty he will be required to pay on a given shipment. Sometimes the duty may, after a lapse of years, amount to more than the whole amount of the shipment.

"An importer can't be sure whether a tire is going to be classified as a tire or an article (made) in part of carbon. He can't be sure whether one of those little pianos you see in night cluubs is going to be considered a musical instrument or a toy.

"In order to get in gloves trimmed with bird feathers to meet a sudden feminine fancy in this country, he has to prove that the birds from which the feathers came were tame, not wild, a process which turns out to be very time-consuming.

"It has even been suggested, although I shall not guarantee the veracity of this statement, that there is some question whether a coffin containing a corpse should be dutiable as an article of merchandise or considered as the usual container of its contents and hence be free of duty."

If a Frenchman wanted to send over those gloves trimmed with bird feathers, he could write and ask the U. S. customs some questions about the gloves. But—

No one can find out, before his product actually arrives here for examination by the customs inspectors on the spot, exactly how they'll classify it as to value and so on.

You Can Appeal

A decision by the inspectors can be appealed to the collector—boss of the customs district (there are 40 such districts). If he upholds his inspectors, the case can be appealed to the bureau of customs.

If the bureau upholds the collector and the inspectors, the case can be appealed to the customs court for final decision.

The customs bureau itself has been studying its procedures and regulations for a couple of years.

And this week experts of the American, British and Canadian customs services have been going over the American set-up. Why?

To see how they may be simplified so that more trade can flow in here.

When congress comes back the customs bureau may suggest some changes in the laws governing imports.

Victim in Tavern Brawl Killed by Head Blow: Coroner

Waukegan, Ill., Nov. 4—(AP)—The Lake County coroner says a blow on the head killed Victor Thomsen, 50. Thomsen died Wednesday night after a tavern row over a shuffleboard game.

Police said he was struck with a beer bottle or glass. Harry Berg, 45, a garage foreman, was charged with manslaughter in the case. He was freed on $5,000 bond pending a hearing.

At first authorities thought a heart ailment may have caused Thomsen's death. But Coroner Garfield Leaf said yesterday an autopsy showed he had been struck a fatal blow.

They Either Get Pickled or They Get Well Oiled

Davis, Calif.—(AP)—There's no such thing as the ideal olive, laments Prof. H. T. Hartman of the University of California College of Agriculture here. But he's working on the idea. Some olives produce good oil but are too small to pickle. Others make fine pickle but are poor for oil. Some make good pickles and good oil too, but are "alternate producers" that yield a good crop one year and a poor one the next, he explains.

Therefore 27 kinds of Mediterranean olives have been imported and Hartman is grafting them to about 60 California varieties. He seeks a better all-round olive.

Chicago Leaders Plan Commercial Fair for 1950

Chicago, Nov. 4—(AP)—Civic leaders planned yesterday to bolster prospects of a 1950 fair on Chicago's lake front.

The exposition will be set up on the site of the Railroad Fair which closed early last month after two successive summers.

Kent Chandler, chairman of a fair committee, said incorporation of a group to establish and operate such a project will be sought immediately.

Te 1950 fair was described in a committee resolution as "a common meeting ground for the manufactures, distributors and consumers of American products."

Sponsors of the Railroad Fair offered properties valued at $1,000,000 to the city without charge.

Nehru Nears The End of His U. S. Visit

Madison, Wis., Nov. 4—(AP)—Prime Minister Jawarlal Nehru of India ends his goodwill tour of America here today as he began it—promising little, hoping for much, but too proud to ask for a thing.

In a 25-day tour that carried him 9,500 miles through this country and Canada, Nehru has proclaimed neutrality in the cold war. But he has outlined strategy which the west seems to like although Russia did not.

In more than 40 public speeches he called for peace; said he doesn't like Communism; said he finds Americans friendly and peace-loving, and said India is willing to fight if aggressors imperil human freedom.

He leaves for New York this afternoon to see and do some of the things for which he had no time while he was an official guest. He plans to see some shows and visit Saturday morning with Albert Einstein. He presumably also will huddle privately with industrialists, financiers and others who expressed interest in helping India develop.

With few exceptions, livestock can endure flying at altitudes up to 10,000 feet.

The life span of the ant is between 10 and 15 years.

Oregon Church To Celebrate Its 110 Years

MRS. MARY CONWAY
Telegraph Correspondent

The Oregon Methodist church will celebrate its 110th anniversary the week of Nov. 6-13.

In 1839 nine women and two men met in one of Oregon's first log cabins to establish a Methodist church. For a number of years there was no regular pastor, and the appointments were filled by itinerate meetings held in private homes.

Rev. McKean First

In 1845 the Rev. James McKean was sent to Buffalo Grove circuit. His territory was bounded by Rochelle on the east, the Mississippi river on the west, Kishwaukee river on the north, and Prophetstown on the south.

Later the circuit was traveled by C. G. Worthington and Barton H. Cartwright, father of Miss Emily Cartwright, Oregon.

A brick church was erected in 1857-1858 at Third and Jefferson streets during the pastorate of Henry L. Martin.

Second in 1875

Under the guidance of the Rev. George Carr, the present church building was constructed in 1875 at Fourth and Jefferson streets.

Many promient ministers have served the Oregon church, including Dr. Fred D. Stone, who served as pastorate here in 1900-1902.

At present the church has a remodeling program. The plan started November 1, 1948, and called for $65,000. About $51,000 has been pledged, and $29,000 already paid.

Dr. Stone to Speak

On Nov. 6, Dr. Stone will deliver the morning sermon. At 7:30 in the evening, a church pageant depicting the original founding scene will be held. An old baptismal and communion service and a Sunday school scene also will be presented.

Wedding gowns of the last 110 years will be displayed, as well as costumes and uniforms of the period.

Homecoming Nov. 9

A homecoming banquet will be held Wednesday, Nov. 9, at 6:30 p. m. in the Coliseum. The district superintendent, the Rev. Milton Bayley, will speak. After the dinner, movies of previous events will be shown.

Sunday, Nov. 13, will climax the anniversary celebration. Bishop J. Ralph Mazee will deliver the sermon.

The Rev. Edwin S. Hunt, DeKalb, is the present pastor.

Bloomers first were introduced for public sale on July 19, 1848.

James Simpson Announces Candidacy for Treasurer

James Simpson of Wadsworth, Lake county, today announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for state treasurer at the Illinois primary election to be held on Tuesday, April 11, 1950. Simpson, a former congressman from the 10th congressional district, and former member of the Republican state central committee, was unanimously endorsed by the Lake county GOP organization at a meeting on Oct. 18.

"I have given serious consideration to the decision I have just made," said Simpson in a letter to Republican leaders in Illinois. "I am now and have been intensely interested in politics and in the public service, and I believe the time has come when all of us must take an active part in the affairs of our government if the American ideals of liberty and opportunity are to be preserved for our own enjoyment and for those who will follow after us."

Develop Glass Foam Substitute for Cork

Denver — (AP) — The University of Denver Industrial Research Institute is making glass foam, which in effect is a mass of tiny vacuum bottles. The purpose is improved insulation against heat. A chunk about as big as an ice cream cone may contain about a million tiny jugs.

This new glass material is white, strong and about as lightweight as cork. It is intended to be a substitute for cork and is a development for the U. S. Army Quartermaster Corps. Powdered glass, mixed with little powdered cadmium is melted. The glass becomes fluid. The cadmium vaporizes. Cadmium vapor forms minute bubbles all through the glass. The hot glass rises like baking bread. When the glass loaf cools, the cadmium bubbles condense to metal again. The metal coats the inner surface of the bubble, leaving a vacuum the size of the bubble.
